We hope you will enjoy your new home and find the information in this Pack helpful.

Please say hello to your neighbours and if you need help or information about anything hopefully one of them will be able to assist you. Please also add your contact details to the email list so that we can keep you in touch with Village news and events – see page 8.

Dingley is known as a "scattered" community. That is to say the homes in the Parish are spread along the A427, down Braybrooke Road and Sutton Lane (as it is known locally, but actually named Dingley Lane on Ordnance Survey and Satellite Navigation Systems), and along Church Lane and within Dingley Hall.

The Village Hall

The Village Hall can be found near the top of Church Lane behind the last of the thatched cottages. This is probably the most important meeting place for the community. On the first Friday evening of most months there is a social event of some kind, organised by the Village Hall Committee. These range from simple Pub Nights, when the bar is open, to the fish and chip charity supper, to full blown Burns Supper. A programme of events is published in the Dingley Village Pump (more later), and for some events flyers are delivered in advance of each one.

The Village Hall is also used for the meetings of the Parish Council, held regularly except January and August.

It is also possible to hire the Village Hall for private events. This can be done by contacting any member of the Village Hall Committee.

If you'd like to join the committee or just help out at some events, please contact the Chair as below.

Dingley Parish Council

The Parish Council meets regularly to discuss local issues such as planning applications, Neighbourhood Watch, safety of parish assets, rights of way, and links with the Village Hall committee.

There are single projects, such as drawing up a plan for if there were an emergency that affected some or all of the village. An example of this would be if there were to be a major traffic accident on the A427, maybe involving fire or chemical spill.

Currently the Council are involved, along with interested villagers, in trying to solve the problem of heavy and speeding traffic on the A427 through the village. Alongside this, the council is in contact with the Unitary Authority councils concerning the lack of continuous footway through the village and a possible cycle way linking Dingley with Market Harborough.

The meetings are attended by one of our Councillors from the Unitary Authority to act as a link with the bigger authorities. Members of the public are welcome to attend the meetings.

Dates of meetings are posted on the parish website and on the noticeboard on the A427 opposite the junction of Braybrooke Road.

All Saints – Dingley Parish Church

A church has stood on this site for over a thousand years. Built in 1292 by Hugh De Dingle on the site of an older place of worship, the church dates mainly from the 15th century but on the south side of the chancel and the nave the arcades are Norman. The church has a perpendicular porch which is at least 500 years old and has carved bosses in the beams of the roof, one an angel with hands folded in prayer and a very fine moustache!

The Griffin and Hungerford families, who resided at the Hall, are represented and there are two brass tablet memorials to the 8th and 9th Viscounts Downe.

In the churchyard is a grave prepared for Admiral Lord Beatty, Admiral of the Fleet, and his wife Ethel Lady Beatty. Lord Beatty was interred in Westminster Abbey, leaving Lady Beatty alone in Dingley churchyard. Also in the churchyard is one grave identified by the Wargraves Commission. There is an 'Adopt a Grave Scheme' in the churchyard, whereby some villagers look after old graves where the families are long gone.

As burials no longer take place in the churchyard, there is a graveyard next to the Village Hall at the top of Church Lane.

The Church is found by going through the blue gate set in the wall at the bottom of Church Lane. From the gate a gravel path leads you through a pleasant, gardened walk to the Norman church set on a slight mound. The walk to the church is along a wooded path set at all times throughout the year with flowers, especially snowdrops and wild daffodils in the spring and naturalised cyclamen in the late summer.

Friends of Dingley Park

On the north side of Dingley is a beautiful stretch of 100 acres of traditional parkland adjacent to Dingley Hall. This is private land which previously residents had controlled access to, but sadly currently restricted by the landowner's agent.

Discussions continue, led by Councillor Steve Dudson (steve.dudson@gmail.com), to try and restore access.

Look out for further details which will be circulated via the Pump.

Dingley Hall

Dingley Hall sits on a high ridge overlooking the Welland Valley. Originally a foundation of the Knights Hospitallers the house and land were given to Edward Griffin, treasurer to the boy king Edward VI. During the 1550s Edward Griffin built a fine house on the site. Since then, the building has been modified many times.

The bulk of what stands today dates from the mid-17th century. It remained the family home of a series of families until the mid 20th century.

After serving as a nursing home in World War Two, the house fell into disrepair and was in danger of complete dereliction until it was rescued and converted into seven houses and three apartments.

The house and its grounds are private, and should be respected as such. However, the residents of the Hall jointly own the drive from the lodge on the A427, and the land around it, and are happy to give permission for villagers to responsibly walk there.

For obvious safety reasons, children should be under supervision, and dogs must be kept on a lead. The drive is effectively a fairly busy single-track road and should be treated as such.

The Dingley Village Pump

The Pump is a quarterly newsletter delivered to every home in Dingley.

The Pump has details of all social events as well as other items submitted by villagers. Recent issues have covered topics such as recent social events, gardening tips, travels in South America, a look at interesting words, healthy recipes, some village history, as well as the usual Village Hall and Parish Council reports.

Submissions to the Pump are very welcome, in fact necessary or the editor would have to write it all herself. If you are reading this it is probably because you are new to Dingley, so why not introduce yourself with a short article.

Submissions to Elaine Whitesides at e.whitesides@btinternet.com.

Village Communication

Besides the Pump, we have two other forms of communication in the village, an email list and a WhatsApp group.
